

INT. WEDDING PARTY - EVENING

People are dressed up at a wedding party. A woman and man's eyes meet. She begins to walk away. He walks toward her.

ALEX
Can we talk?

She turns.

SAM
Yeah, sure.

EXT. WEDDING PARTY - EVENING

He leads her outside the party.

ALEX
How's everything been?

SAM
Yeah, good. You?

ALEX
You know I tried to call you... and write to you many times...

She looks down.

SAM Yeah.

ALEX
Can you, maybe... can we talk again?

She doesn't respond.

ALEX (CONT'D)
I just want... us... to be something again. I still, still dream about you.

She takes a deep breath.

SAM
You know when we broke up, and I started doing the things that I did...

(MORE)

SAM (CONT'D)

I was convinced, convinced I was doing it because I was so in love with you, that, somehow if I do the right thing, say the right thing, at the right place, at the right time, magically you would love me again. And the more I pushed, the more you pulled. I thought if I just push hard enough, you would tell me why you left.

Moment between them.

SAM (CONT'D)

I was convinced I was doing it because I loved you. Others thought I was obsessed with you. It was very hard to distinguish which one it was at the time.

(beat)

But after years and years I've come to realize that, I was addicted to you.

Tears in his eyes.

SAM (CONT'D)

Here we are, ten years later. I don't know who you are now. You're different. I'm different. But I still feel that anxiety.

(beat)

That's why we're never going to work... because no matter how old we get, you'll always be my heroine.
